ABSTRACT

Meant to serve as a guide to literature concerning program planning and evaluation, the format of this bibliography is a simple planning and evaluation model. The bibliographic material cited is related to one of the four model components, as follows: 1. Clientele Analysis and Need; 2. Establishing Objectives; 3. Program Planning (Models, Principles and Procedures; Tools; General and Miscellaneous Planning Information; and Decision-Making/Problem Solving); and 4. Evaluation. The 229 items cited are either books or journal articles. (DB)

INTRODUCTION

This bibliography is a beginning. It will be followed, as time permits, by an annotated bibliography, by a series of case study examples of planning and evaluation efforts, and by a text for program planning and evaluation in adult education agencies. The format for this bibliography is a simple planning model. (See Figure 1.) The table of contents provides references to those materials most applicable for each model component. All references included have not been reviewed by this author; consequently, some sources may not be as directly related to a particular component as their titles would imply. Nor will the accuracy of each bibliographic citation be guaranteed, as the process of extracting and rewriting has limitations. However, it is hoped that this information will serve the purpose of providing a guide for those interested in pursuing the planning and evaluation literature.
